Inspiration from the regions – Experiences with added value

CSR activities

Meaningful experiences that combine teambuilding with a positive impact – on nature, the community, and corporate culture. Tree planting, volunteering, sustainable workshops or support for local projects as part of a responsible incentive programme.

When planning corporate events, we are increasingly focusing not only on team cooperation but also on a broader social impact. This Inspirational monthly offers a selection of activities that connect team development with care for nature, the community, or cultural heritage. Get inspired by opportunities to enrich your corporate programme with a meaningful dimension.

For easier orientation, the activities are divided into categories:

Cleaning the Vltava River Beneath Hluboká Castle

Looking for a meaningful experience for your corporate event? Set off with your colleagues on the Vltava River and combine fun with helping nature.

As part of a socially responsible teambuilding activity, you can clean the riverbanks and riverbed while paddling down the river. The choice of vessel is yours – you can opt for a raft, canoe, paddleboard, or even walk along the riverbank on foot.

The event can be organised from May to October, but the most suitable time is usually after the main season – in September and early October.

Sustainable Cooking at the Sůl a Řepa Restaurant

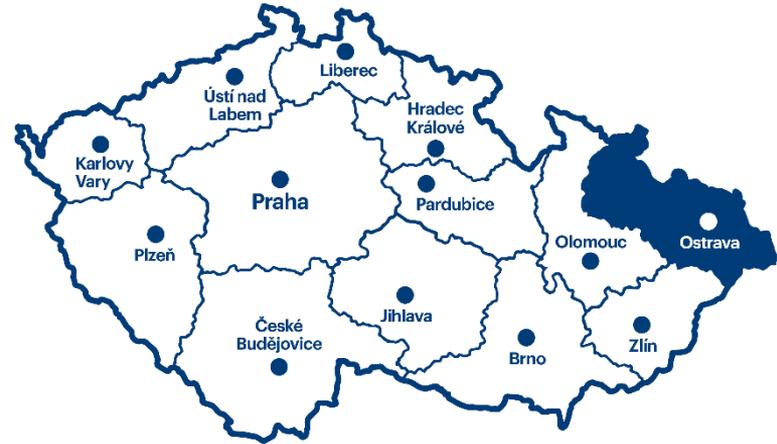

Truly sustainable food is made from ingredients you can find around your own home. Learn how to cook using home-grown herbs and vegetables with chef Pavel Drdel at the restaurant Sůl a řepa in Strakonice.

Cook in a way that doesn't harm nature and allows herbs and vegetables to keep on growing. At the Sůl a řepa restaurant in Strakonice, you'll learn in a cooking course not only how to cook with local ingredients, but also how to grow your own vegetables and herbs. You'll discover how to prepare a vitamin bomb, how to cook with meadow herbs, how to tap birch sap, and why fermented foods are worth eating... This fun and educational cooking course is an original teambuilding experience for everyone.

Run Through Ostrava Zoo for a Good Cause

The Zoo Ostrava Run is a charity run open to everyone, regardless of age or fitness level.

Add a sporty touch to your corporate event – with a run. You don't need Emil Zátopek types on your team; just set off at your own pace (not only) with your colleagues along the course of this charity run, held for the ninth year in Ostrava Zoo.

In 2025, you'll be running for langurs in Ostrava, but your impact will reach the other side of the globe – all the way to distant Vietnam... The proceeds from the entry fee will go to support the non-profit organisation Three Monkeys Wildlife Conservancy, which works to protect Delacour's langurs in Vietnam.

This is not a race – it's about doing something good. The course runs through the beautiful natural setting of Ostrava Zoo, the second-largest zoo in the Czech Republic. Distances are 480 m, 3 km and 6 km – so anyone can run or walk.

Trees for Javorník and Ondřejník

In cooperation with the Bishop's Forests, the Moravian-Silesian Region has launched a project that supports the planting of new trees in deforested areas of the region.

This tree-planting event is organised for schools and the general public in the areas of Ondřejník and Velký Javorník.

With more than 16,000 trees already planted, this activity represents not only a major contribution to the restoration and ecological stability of local forests, but also supports the natural biodiversity of the North Moravia and Silesia region.

Join this initiative as part of your corporate teambuilding or employee gatherings, lend a hand and help restore our forests.

Rural Tourism

Rural tourism activities are directly connected with nature and the countryside, and are often referred to as green tourism, which is more considerate towards the environment.

As part of your MICE activities, head to the countryside and reduce the negative impacts associated with mass-organised tourism. In our region, you will find locations suitable for corporate events set in peaceful natural surroundings, far from the city – places where you'll be woken by the honking of geese in the morning and where you and your guests can fully savour the rural way of life.

Here's a small taste of places where “the world spins more slowly”:

Farma pod Hradem (Farm Beneath the Castle): in the heart of the unspoilt nature of the Osoblaha region

Jarošův statek, Studénka (Jaroš's Farmstead): a place where you'll learn to love nature

Mlýn vodníka Slámy (Water Sprite Sláma's Mill): a picturesque complex where the charm of the countryside is all around you and everyone will find something to enjoy

Prague

Gleaning with DobroPolníci

Every year, tons of crops would be needlessly left behind in fields or orchards after harvest. Their only “flaw” is that they do not meet the aesthetic standards of supermarket chains. Groups heading out on a rescue expedition in the Prague area can collect this fruit or vegetables, donate them to those in need, and help prevent the waste of high-quality food!

Gleaning is the collection of crops that would usually be unsellable due to their shape, size or colour. However, farmers have invested considerable resources in growing them – not only water, but also hundreds of hours of work. If you collect the fruit and vegetables, those resources will not go to waste thanks to you. Equally important is the fact that these crops will reach people who could not otherwise afford them. Among them are persons in shelters, some elderly individuals or persons on the edge of poverty – for all of them, this kind of food is a huge help.

After prior arrangement with the coordinators, participants will meet at a designated place in Prague, from where they will travel together to the field and spend several hours harvesting in the fresh air. The harvested fruit or vegetables will then be donated by DobroPolníci to other organisations helping persons in need.

ADRA Czech Republic is part of an international network of humanitarian and development organisations active in more than 100 countries around the world, helping persons in need. Since 2006, the ADRA Volunteer Centre in Prague has been connecting people willing to help with those who need it.

ADRA volunteers in Prague support 13 different locations across the city. The Volunteer Centre cooperates with retirement homes, children's homes, hospitals, social support centres, and centres for at-risk children. The team at ADRA Prague designs a meaningful volunteer activity and suggests a suitable facility in cooperation with group or company representatives (such as retirement homes, hospitals, or children's homes) to ensure the activity is helpful, enriching, and fosters relationships. A major advantage of this experienced team is that, in addition to proposing and organising the activity, they also handle all required documents, provide training, and arrange photo and video documentation of the one-off volunteering event.

Toulcův Dvůr

Meadows, steppe, wetland, floodplain forest or a farm. All of this can be found on a historic estate just 20 minutes from the centre of Prague. Toulcův Dvůr offers a wide range of environmental and educational activities. Larger visitor groups can spend most of the day at this Hostivař site.

Toulcův Dvůr is a complex of historically protected buildings set on 10 hectares and surrounded by a variety of natural features. The site includes not only an eco-garden, orchard, forest nursery and working farm with original Czech livestock breeds and Baroque stables, but also conference, accommodation and dining facilities and an organic shop.

The farm's grounds offer a wide selection and combination of traditional work and creative group activities: for example, crafts (bread-making), agricultural tasks, arts and handicrafts (wood-fired ceramics), all of which can be tailored to create an ideal programme for a volunteer day. Toulcův Dvůr is a place run with environmental, economic and social responsibility, including a Healthy Canteen that offers catering made from high-quality fresh ingredients and organic food that is kind to both nature and people.

Philanthropic Teambuilding

OMT Group offers companies the opportunity to get involved in socially responsible activities through the “Help with Your Company” programme.

This programme combines corporate teambuilding with real community support, promoting not only teamwork but also a positive impact on the local environment. Participants can take part in a variety of activities, such as cleaning drainage channels, planting saplings, repairing hiking trails, or building insect hotels. These tasks bring visible results and strengthen the philanthropic spirit within the company. The programme is designed to benefit all parties involved. Participants not only gain a sense of accomplishment but also improve team cooperation and communication. For companies, the programme offers a chance to develop their CSR initiatives and strengthen employee loyalty. In this way, OMT Group supports sustainable and responsible business practices.

CSR Artistry Challenge

Z-AGENCY offers corporate teams a unique experience through the CSR Artistry Challenge programme, which combines teamwork with environmental responsibility.

Participants take on the role of sustainability consultants, designing and constructing eco-friendly structures for a fictional “Green City” in the Amazon. The programme includes four phases: planning, creating a guide, building, and presenting the final project. Natural and recycled materials are used throughout, encouraging creativity and ecological thinking.

This teambuilding format is ideal for corporate CSR initiatives, as it blends fun with a real impact on both the community and the environment. Participants not only strengthen team collaboration and communication, but also contribute to positive change in their surroundings.

Corporate Volunteering in Brno

Corporate volunteering organised by ADRA in Brno represents a form of corporate social responsibility.

Companies have the opportunity to involve their employees in activities (so-called “Good Days”) that bring joy and support to seniors and persons with disabilities in care homes and social facilities. ADRA provides companies with full support for organising volunteering events, making it easier for them to engage in CSR activities. For companies that take part in these Good Days, ADRA organises two main events each year. The first is the ADRA Run with CTP, a charity run for the public and company employees, held on 15 May at Špilberk. The proceeds from this event support the development of volunteering in Brno. The second major event is ADRA Back to School, a children’s day for the children of employees from partner companies, held annually in September.

Through these activities, companies can contribute to solving specific social issues while also strengthening their corporate culture. Corporate volunteering thus represents an effective way to connect business with a responsible approach to the world around us.

Volunteering Day at Brno Zoo

Corporate volunteering at Brno Zoo offers companies the opportunity to actively engage in environmental care and support sustainable development.

During the volunteering day, company employees take part in a variety of tasks, such as cleaning enclosures, maintaining paths and grounds, or assisting with animal care. This collaboration not only contributes to the smooth operation of the zoo but also strengthens team spirit and raises awareness of environmental issues among employees.

The corporate volunteering programme at Brno Zoo is a concrete example of how companies can fulfil their commitments in the field of corporate social responsibility (CSR). Participants have the chance to spend a day in the inspiring setting of the zoo, contribute to nature conservation, and at the same time strengthen workplace relationships.

Volunteering as Teambuilding

Otevřená zahrada (Open Garden) in Brno offers companies the opportunity to combine teambuilding with volunteer work, supporting their corporate social responsibility strategy.

As part of the “Volunteering as Teambuilding” programme, company employees engage in hands-on tasks such as weeding sheep enclosures, loosening soil in garden beds, maintaining garden features, or tending greenery. These activities not only contribute to the upkeep and development of the garden but also strengthen team spirit and boost civic engagement among employees.

The programme gives companies the chance to actively care for cultural and natural heritage right in the centre of Brno. Thanks to these volunteer efforts, Otevřená zahrada can continue offering accessible programmes to schools and remain open to the general public. In this way, companies meet their CSR objectives while also contributing to the sustainability and development of a community space.

Plum Teambuilding

An experiential teambuilding event at RUDOLF JELÍNEK in Vizovice combines the development of team cooperation with support for regional tradition, local production, and environmental responsibility. The programme is designed as an attractive form of corporate activity with an added dimension of social responsibility.

Throughout the day, participants will learn about the history of distilling in the Wallachian region, visit the production facilities of this traditional Czech producer, and discover sustainable approaches to fruit cultivation and the processing of natural ingredients. A practical part of the programme includes plum picking directly in the orchard (in season), distilling slivovice, bottling, and labelling.

The teambuilding also features competitions and team activities (such as plum golf, blind tasting, or a themed quiz), encouraging cooperation, creativity, and learning through play. The programme is suitable for groups of 20–80 persons and can be individually tailored to the company's needs. By participating in this programme, companies support the preservation of cultural heritage and traditional craft production, local employment and the regional economy, as well as a respectful approach to natural resources and responsible business practices.

Plum Teambuilding is therefore more than just a corporate event – it's an investment in relationships, the region, and the values that matter.

Teambuilding at Resort Valachy

Resort Valachy in Velké Karlovice offers corporate teambuilding programmes that combine teamwork with support for local culture and sustainable development. These activities help fulfil corporate social responsibility (CSR) goals by promoting regional traditions, ecological awareness, and community engagement.

Among the programmes with a strong CSR dimension is "Wallachia Without Borders", where participants get to try out traditional activities in a fun way, such as goat milking, smuggling slivovice, or wearing Wallachian folk costume. In this way, the preservation of the region's cultural heritage is supported.

Another example is the "Hunter on Wine" programme, which blends a culinary experience with a talk about local customs and hunting, deepening participants' connection to regional culture and traditions.

The resort also offers activities focused on ecology and healthy lifestyles, such as cycling or e-biking trips, Nordic walking, or herb picking – all of which promote environmental awareness and participants' physical well-being.

In this way, Resort Valachy provides companies with the opportunity to carry out teambuilding activities that not only strengthen team spirit but also contribute to sustainable development and support for the local community.

Veronica Centre Hostětín

The Veronica Centre in Hostětín, located in the White Carpathians, offers companies the opportunity to organise teambuilding events with a strong focus on corporate social responsibility (CSR). In the inspiring setting of this eco-village, employees can take part in programmes focused on sustainability, ecology and community cooperation.

Companies can also take advantage of complementary educational programmes covering topics such as home ecology, green offices, eco-construction or organic farming. These lectures and workshops are designed to inspire participants towards a sustainable lifestyle and business approach.

The offer also includes practical activities such as volunteering in orchards, meadow mowing or tree planting – all supporting team collaboration while contributing to the protection of the local environment. Guided tours of Hostětín and its surroundings with commentary on ecological projects provide participants with a deeper understanding of the principles of sustainable development.

The Veronica Centre in Hostětín is an ideal place for companies wishing to combine team-building with meaningful action in the field of CSR and sustainability.

Teambuilding at Rochus Open-Air Museum

The Rochus Open-Air Museum in Uherské Hradiště offers a unique opportunity for corporate teambuilding that combines the discovery of traditions, teamwork, and fun in the inspiring setting of a folk architecture museum. Surrounded by beautiful nature and authentic buildings, the museum provides an ideal backdrop for strengthening team spirit while connecting with the region's cultural heritage.

Programmes such as “Back to Tradition”, “From Field to Plate”, and “Clothes Grow in the Meadow” allow participants to interactively engage with traditional crafts, agricultural techniques, and textile production. Participants can try their hand at pottery, milling grain, or processing natural materials – activities that foster teamwork and creativity.

These programmes not only enhance team spirit but also contribute to sustainable development and the preservation of the region's cultural heritage. Rochus Open-Air Museum is therefore an ideal location for companies seeking meaningful and inspiring teambuilding activities.

From Grain Store to Cultural Centre

The Baroque granary in the village of Lvová near Jablonné v Podještědí has found a new purpose. Once used to store grain, the building has been transformed into an inspiring space for culture, community gatherings, and creativity. The project is built on respect for history and the needs of contemporary society and serves as a great example of a culture-focused CSR activity.

Sýpka Lemberk offers a diverse programme including exhibitions, film evenings, theatre performances, workshops, and guided tours. In 2025, for instance, the opening of an exhibition by Petr Stanický is planned in collaboration with the Kuzebauch Gallery. The centre also organises events focused on traditional crafts and sustainability, such as Lenfest, which links the history of flax cultivation with modern ecological approaches. Thanks to these activities, Sýpka Lemberk has become a place for meeting, learning and inspiration for visitors of all ages.

Lavender from the Jizera Mountains

At the foot of the Jizera Mountains, in the village of Raspenava, a unique project has emerged that combines organic farming, social entrepreneurship, and community life. Levandulovna is not just a farm – it is a place where lavender cultivation becomes a way to support women disadvantaged in the labour market and to create space for gathering and sharing.

Levandulovna is more than just a site of natural product production – it regularly opens its gates to the public during events such as “Welcoming Spring” or Open Garden Days. It offers fragrant field tours, hands-on workshops, herbal tea rooms, and a small shop with local products. Visitors can take part in the lavender harvest or simply relax in the peaceful natural surroundings of the Frýdlant Spur. Levandulovna thus functions as a socially beneficial enterprise and an attractive tourist destination, connecting ecology, local community support, and the experience of slow-paced rural life.

Hand Paper Mill

At the foot of the Ještěd Ridge, in the small village of Zdislava near Osečná, handmade paper is being created in the traditional way – using a screen mould, from natural and recycled materials. Papyrea is a place where honest craftsmanship, ecology, and a love for the trade come together.

The paper mill uses raw materials such as hemp, flax, mulberry bast, or cotton, and also processes textile waste, including old denim. The result is unique artisanal paper with distinctive textures, ideal for wedding invitations, certificates, book covers, or original greeting cards. But Papyrea is not just a production site – it regularly organises guided tours, craft workshops, and educational programmes for schools and the public. Visitors can try the full papermaking process and take home their own handmade sheet of paper. A key aspect is its regional impact – the paper mill collaborates with other local businesses and promotes ecological thinking and a return to sustainable values.

From the History of Textile Production

In Česká Lípa, right next to the Lipý Water Castle, you'll find the Textile Printing Centre. This interactive museum presents the rich tradition of calico printing, which brought fame to the town in the 18th and 19th centuries. Visitors can not only admire historical artefacts, but also try their hand at textile printing techniques and become part of living history.

The exhibition showcases restored sample books, printing blocks, and finished products that document the importance of calico printing in the region. Some of the blocks weigh over five kilograms, illustrating how demanding the work once was. The interactive part of the exhibition allows visitors to try various textile printing techniques, from traditional screen printing to modern methods.

For children, there is a relaxation corner with stamps and colouring sheets. The tour also includes a video presentation that introduces both historical and contemporary textile printing. The centre thus serves not only as a museum but also as an educational and community space that revives traditional craft and promotes the cultural heritage of the region.

Memorial Chateau - Educational Programmes

Why bring your team to the Zámeček Memorial in Pardubice – the site of a former Nazi execution ground? Although the memorial is a place of remembrance, the educational programmes are full of life and reach into the present day – just like the entire exhibition.

The programme Human Rights is based on the Charter of Fundamental Rights and Freedoms and addresses behaviour that leads to the violation of rights of individuals and groups. It doesn't focus only on the past, but opens up current topics and issues as well. In the Fates of the Victims of the Heydrichiáda programme, participants take on the role of researchers – piecing together stories of persons connected with the Pardubice execution site using period photographs and texts. In both programmes, the willingness of participants to engage actively is essential.

If you're looking for a more passive yet powerful experience for your team, you can book a guided tour of the Zámeček Memorial exhibition.

Become a Volunteer at the Vysočina Open-Air Museum

Get your company involved in a volunteer programme and enjoy a day full of meaningful work, discovery, and teamwork.

The Vysočina Open-Air Museum is looking for enthusiastic persons who aren't afraid to lend a helping hand – whether it's gardening, maintenance, assistance during events, digitising collections, or craft activities. Corporate volunteering offers not only the chance to support cultural heritage, but also a behind-the-scenes look at museum operations and an original teambuilding experience. Age, profession, or previous experience don't matter – all that's needed is the motivation to do something for others.

Joy for Big Cats in Chvojeneč

At the big cat park in Chvojeneč, you can experience much more than a standard guided tour. Get involved in volunteer work or invite the cats to lunch.

Would you like to try something out of the ordinary, get up close to big cats, and help a good cause at the same time? The big cat park in Chvojeneč welcomes volunteers from both individuals and companies. Help is needed with cleaning the premises and enclosures, painting, small construction tasks, and general maintenance. Volunteering is unpaid. The reward is a powerful experience, a beautiful environment, and the knowledge that you're helping animals. In addition to volunteering, you can support the big cats through symbolic adoption or by inviting them to lunch – every contribution helps provide quality care.

Help Shape a More Diverse Polabí

Looking for a meaningful teambuilding experience that strengthens team spirit while contributing to nature conservation? The Pestré Polabí Association offers corporate groups the opportunity to get involved in volunteer activities that help restore biodiversity in the landscape.

Nature needs allies – and corporate teams have the power to make a real difference. With expertise and enthusiasm, Pestré Polabí is dedicated to restoring natural habitats, caring for biotopes, creating ponds, and removing invasive species. Together, you can take part in hands-on support: mosaic mowing, shrub clearing, creating pastures, or planting trees. Working in the field brings teams together, gives employees a fresh perspective on the landscape, and adds genuine meaning to your CSR programme. Every helping hand counts – and the results are visible.

JARO Jaroměř

Action-Focused Nature Protection from Jaroměř to the World

For over 30 years, the organisation JARO (JARoměřští ROPáci) has been dedicated to protecting nature, caring for ecologically valuable sites, and rescuing endangered species – not only in the Hradec Králové Region but throughout Central Europe. JARO manages over 300 sites covering more than 1,100 hectares and is involved in scientific research and environmental education. In addition, it offers unique CSR programmes for companies and congress tourists – including corporate volunteering in nature, tree planting, pond creation, or assistance at a rescue station. These activities combine teambuilding with real support for nature and offer a great alternative to traditional corporate events. JARO is also a founding member of the global initiative against palm oil and supports ecological projects in Indonesia, Africa, and South America. It thus connects local landscape care with global impact – an ideal partner for sustainable CSR.

DOTEK Ecocentre

Centre for Ecological Living and Education in the Heart of the Krkonoše Mountains

The Environmental Education Centre SEVER and its accommodation facility DOTEK in Horní Maršov are an outstanding example of combining environmental education with sustainable practice. DOTEK is the only accommodation facility in Czechia to hold a double eco-label – the European Ecolabel and the Czech mark Ecologically Friendly Service. The entire building uses only renewable energy sources, conserves water and energy through smart systems, and is built from locally sourced natural materials.

SEVER has long been dedicated to environmental education for children, teachers, public officials, and the general public. It offers educational programmes, seminars, conferences, and consultancy in nature conservation and sustainability. Its emphasis is on personal experience, hands-on learning, and interdisciplinary connection. Thanks to its combination of education, sustainable operation, and outreach, DOTEK and SEVER rank among the top CSR initiatives with direct impact on both society and the environment.

Lázně Velichovky Spa

A Healthy Step Towards CSR: Nordic Walking in the Spa Park

Lázně Velichovky offers not only therapeutic treatments but also the opportunity to engage corporate teams in healthy movement in the beautiful setting of East Bohemia. Nordic walking – walking with trekking poles – is an ideal accompanying activity for conferences or training sessions. The routes wind through the picturesque spa park and surrounding nature and are suitable for all ages and fitness levels.

Walking with poles supports health, team spirit, and mental well-being. It can be combined with light wellness treatments or healthy dining in the local canteen. By choosing this activity, companies also support local spa services and gentle tourism. An active break with purpose – for the body, the mind, and the region.

Volunteering in KRNAP

Help Nature Where It Truly Matters

The Krkonoše National Park Administration (KRNAP) offers individuals, groups, and corporate teams the opportunity to actively participate in nature conservation through volunteering programmes. Volunteering takes the form of one-off events where participants help with tasks such as collecting branches, mowing mountain meadows, removing invasive tree growth, or protecting rare habitats. All under the guidance of experienced park staff. These programmes strengthen people's connection to the mountains and deliver tangible results in landscape care. It's an ideal CSR activity for companies wishing to support a meaningful cause, strengthen their team, and discover the Krkonoše Mountains from a different perspective – from within, in harmony with nature.

From Office To Enclosure

Do you have a team that's not afraid to grab a rake and lend a hand? At Jihlava Zoo, you can spend a day differently – instead of walking through animal enclosures, you'll help maintain them and support the operation of one of the most popular tourist attractions in the Vysočina Region.

Volunteer days at Jihlava Zoo offer a unique opportunity for an unconventional teambuilding experience. Colleagues can take part in seasonal tasks such as cleaning the grounds, raking leaves, weeding, repairing site furniture, or preparing enclosures. The activity can be arranged for both smaller and larger teams and usually takes place from spring to autumn.

The Zoo provides all necessary equipment, a friendly environment, and the option of a short tour or expert talk as a thank-you. And the best part? Time spent outdoors and the great feeling of doing something meaningful.

Lavender Valley

In the picturesque village of Chodouň near Beroun lies the Lavender Valley – a unique estate that blends the beauty of nature, the scent of lavender, and a space for inspirational gatherings. It was founded with the vision of creating a place where people can pause, take a deep breath, and discover a new perspective.

Lavender Valley has become a sought-after destination for teambuildings, workshops, training sessions and intimate corporate events. It offers a peaceful outdoor setting, a stylish hall for presentations, and areas for relaxation and informal discussion. The estate includes an extensive lavender farm, a herb garden, a small distillery, and a shop selling in-house products.

Behind the project is a powerful personal story – Lavender Valley was created as a place for the healing of both body and soul, and this philosophy continues to shape its approach to corporate tourism. Everything here is run with a deep respect for nature, the local community, and the values that lend every event a deeper meaning. Companies that visit appreciate not only the quality facilities, but also the chance to experience something genuine – from the hands-on production of lavender cosmetics to a quiet walk among violet shrubs.

Lavender Valley is more than just a place – it is an experience that inspires. Whether you're looking for a venue for a business meeting or want to treat your team to a moment of meaningful slowing down, you'll find both in Chodouň.

Become A Winemaker In Kutná Hora

An authentic teambuilding experience with a deeper meaning – in the only certified biodynamic winery in both Czechia and Slovakia. A sustainable approach, a unique setting, and excellent wines in the backdrop of historic Kutná Hora.

An original CSR programme for groups seeking an experience with added value. Participants will become part of the operation of a biodynamic winery for a day and discover how grapevines can be cultivated with respect for nature – without chemicals, using herbal extracts and modern ecological methods.

They will learn how climate change affects agriculture and how to respond effectively and in harmony with nature. They will taste wines created with a focus on sustainability and high quality.

The programme includes a visit to the vineyards, a pasture with sheep, an agroforestry orchard, a demonstration of biochar production, and a stop at the laboratory where natural plant protection products are prepared. There is also a guided tour of the winery's production facilities.

The experience concludes with a tour of the historic monastery of St. Ursula and a guided tasting of Kutná Hora wines with refreshments made from local ingredients.

A Bird's-Eye View: Restoring Lookout Pavilions

Enjoy a bird's-eye view from a lookout tower or a unique natural viewpoint!

The hilltops of Karlovy Vary and the nearby heights around this spa town have been a popular destination for spa guests' walks since the early 19th century. They remain much loved thanks to the rewarding views they offer of the surrounding landscape.

The initiative to restore lookout pavilions is carried out by volunteers from the Spa and Tourism Committee of the Karlovy Vary City Council, the Spa and Balneology Institute, and the Czech Association of Hotels and Restaurants – all coming together to revive the charm of these iconic structures in the spa forests of Karlovy Vary.

During the project, damaged wooden parts of the pavilions were repaired, benches were given a fresh look, and the surroundings were cleared of litter and fallen leaves. All participants worked with enthusiasm, which greatly contributed to the successful outcome. The pavilion now once again serves as a pleasant resting spot for both tourists and locals.

The initiative also serves as a team-building activity with a CSR dimension.

Cleaning The Ohře River And Its Tributaries

Cleaning the Ohře River is a traditional volunteer event, the 10th edition of which will take place in spring 2025 along the course of the Ohře River.

This significant event is supported by the state enterprise Povodí Ohře. It is a volunteer activity that regularly involves regional institutions, companies, schools, and enthusiasts. The event can be incorporated as a teambuilding activity that helps improve the environment and the quality of the river for the upcoming canoeing season.

The Ohře River rises in Germany and runs for a total of 316 kilometres, of which 247 kilometres lie within Czech territory. A 242-kilometre stretch of the river is navigable and suitable for canoeing, offering an enjoyable trip even for beginners using open boats due to its low difficulty. Thanks to a sufficient number of campsites and camping areas, the river is also suitable for multi-day trips. Canoeing can be combined with visits to interesting cultural and historical sites.

Tree Planting in Spa Forests

The spa forests in Karlovy Vary are an essential part of the therapeutic landscape of the spa area.

Above all, however, they play a significant role in the spa treatment itself. They cover an area of 2,190 hectares, with a total length of walking trails exceeding 100 km.

One of the popular CSR activities in the region is tree planting on the local slopes. In the area around St Linhart and Vítkova Hill, 1,100 spruces and 100 oaks were planted last year following timber harvesting. Tree planting must follow strict procedures and is always conducted under expert supervision.

Events take place on Saturdays in April from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Participants are provided with gloves and the necessary tools on site. Drinking water is available, and there is also the opportunity to roast sausages over an open fire.
